You need to attach a support cable to a tower. One end of the cable will connect to the top of the tower and the other end will attach to a ring on the ground. You know that the tower is 250 feet tall, and the angle of elevation from the ring to the top of the tower is $73^\circ$. How long a cable should you use?